ACCIDENTS TERMINATE LIFE

FALL FROM AN APPLE TREE RESULTS IN FATAL INJURIES.

Caught in a Cave-in of Sand Hole and Buried in the Sand is Suf-focated to Death.

SOLOMON FINE, one of Menallen township's best citizens, died at his home on top of the mountain on last Tuesday, aged 60 years, 1 month and 5 days. Two weeks before he had fallen from an apple tree injuring his spine, and receiving other internal injuries, from which he died. Mr. Fine was a man of rugged honesty and virtues, enjoying the respect of everyone who knew him. He was a staunch Democrat and was ever an active worker for his party. The present Board of County Commissioners two years ago appointed Mr. Fine Fire Warden in the Menallen mountain district and he could always be depended upon to fight all forest fires in his district. He leaves a wife, two sons and three daughters, Simon, of Menallen township, Harry at home, Mrs. Wm. Hafer of Gettysburg, and Misses Annie and Mary at home. The funeral was held on last Thursday, interment in Arendtsville cemetery.

Wm. Hafer, his brother-in-law, and his wife, Mrs. Hafer, were with him at the time of his death.

We mourned to all his griefs. In home to full his pain. We wept his pallid cheek. And wished him well again.

His body hands are folded now. Above his pulsed heart. No line of suffering on that brow. No words the child lips part.

At noon, and noon, and eve. There is a vacant chair. An aching void in all our hearts. To whom he was so dear.

Farewell, dear father, oh farewell. This hard to give thee up. But what a comfort God has given. We all can meet again in heaven.

JOHN D. FROCK lost his life on Tuesday morning of last week at his sand bank at the edge of McSherrystown. The place has been considered very dangerous. Several months ago a cave-in swallowed up a horse and cart. On Tuesday morning of last week, Mr. Frock with Levi Reed, were loading a cart at the sand bank. They were working at the base of a jagged wall of sand above. Without warning this wall of sand shifted, sliding with force to the bottom of the hole. Mr. Frock was caught by the moving mass and buried out of sight and was suffocated to death. Mr. Reed narrowly escaped the same fate. The body of Mr. Frock was recovered beneath about two feet of sand. Mr. Frock conducted a grocery store in Hanover, moving to Gettysburg where he lived several years and about five years ago moved back to McSherrystown. He had the contract for supplying the sand needed for the building of the York and Hanover trolley and there had been recent extensive excavations at his sand bank. He was 45 years old. The funeral was held on last Friday with interment in the Littlestown cemetery. He leaves a wife who was Miss Alice Reck of Hanover, and a daughter, Marion, 10 years old. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Frock of Midway, three brothers and two sisters, J. G. Frock of Hanover, H. E. and W. H. Frock of Harrisburg, Miss Emma J. Frock of Midway and Mrs. Margaret Sloan of Philadelphia.

ELIZABETH ORNER, whose death was reported last week, was aged 82 years, 4 months and 22 days. She leaves four daughters and two sons, Mrs. Charles C. McDannell of Arendtsville, Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Topeka, Kansas, Mrs. D. J. Thomas of Arendtsville, Mrs. Henry Hart of Table Rock, Wisc., and Mrs. Z. Ormer of Galesburg, Ill., and Mrs. M. Ormer of Topeka, Kansas. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Isabella Hartman of Cashtown, Pa.

MRS. CATHARINE NAGLE, widow of Samuel Nagle, died at her home in Abbottstown on Monday of last week from stomach trouble after an illness of five months, aged 83 years. The funeral was on last Thursday, services by Rev. Dr. R. H. Clare in the Lutheran Church at Abbottstown with interment in the Lutheran Cemetery of same place. She leaves nine children, Profs. John and Stephen Nagle of the Commercial College of Freeport, Ill., Mrs. Charles Wolf of Abbottstown, Mrs. A. L. Serff of York Co., Miss Sophia of Tyrone, Pa., Miss Lottie a trained nurse at the University Hospital, Philadelphia, Henry of York, Samuel, a teacher in Oxford township, this county and Miss Dora at home. She is survived by one brother, Abraham Lillieh of Abbottstown.

Gettysburg Boy Advanced.

In the November number of the Harvard Law Review is a very well considered and valuable article by Henry Wolf Bickle, Esq., of Phila. upon the subject of Agreed Valuation as affecting the Liability of Common Carriers for Negligence. It demonstrates the grand old principle that honesty is the best policy. It is better for all concerned that the shipper should state the actual value of his goods and let the Carrier have fair and just freight, and be held to strict liability for due care. The writer finds that more than half of the decisions of the Courts on this subject, have been rendered in cases of the transportation of live stock, principally horses. The difficulty of determining their exact value, but particularly in a case where they are of special breed or are valuable as race horses, furnishes an argument of some weight in appealing to a Court to hold the shipper to the value he has declared.

Mr. Bickle has joined the Legal Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad, being elected an assistant solicitor by the Board of Directors last week.

They have realized the happiness which greeted them from their friends sixty years ago. They have bravely and patiently trod their path, tearing no evil, and are happy in the sunshine of God's love and their own, as they journey on together. Diamonds await them in the end beyond.

Previous to entrance of the young couple into the parlor Miss Carrie Greenholt, soprano, sang "Oh Promise Me," Miss Edith Becker of York played the Mendelssohn wedding march as the bride and groom entered the parlor and the "Spring Song" of Liszt during the ceremony. ## Insurance Paid.

Mrs. Annie K. Young received from J. Elmer Musselman, treasurer of Gettysburg Council, Royal Arcanum, No. 1668, $3,000 insurance held in benefit certificate No. 233340 issued to her late husband, George F. Young.

Mrs. Young received her money in less than 30 days from the time of the death.

The Gettysburg Council Royal Arcanum was instituted about ten years ago and has a large membership. The death of George F. Young was the first in the Gettysburg Council.

Government Building.

Congressman D. F. Lafan in an interview with a representative of the "York Dispatch," says he proposes to introduce in Congress two bills at the opening session in December, one bill calling for an appropriation of $150,000 for a public building at Gettysburg and $100,000 for a public building in Hanover and also a bill calling for $200,000 for the erection of a building on the site bought in York under a previous act. Mr. Lafan explained that the difference in amounts proposed for buildings in Gettysburg and Hanover is occasioned by the fact that the Gettysburg building requires a great deal of floor space as well as a number of large fire proof vaults for the protection of the numerous blue prints, maps, and plates which the Gettysburg Battlefield Park Commission have acquired in years of research and work. Should these blue prints, maps, etc., be destroyed, the Government would suffer an irreparable loss, as many of the persons from whom this data was obtained have since died. Mr. Lafan said it was his intention to introduce the bill at the opening of Congress.

Mr. Lafan has always been ready to do all in his power for his district.

but it is feared in view of the fact that next year a congressional election comes off that Mr. Lafan is more anxious to make a good showing to his constituents by the bills he will introduce for public buildings, than to make sure of securing the buildings.

A bill for a Gettysburg building was introduced at the time bill for a site for York building was offered and Gettysburg had to wait while York got her site. Now a Gettysburg bill will not only be against a big sum for the York building but will have a Hanover bill hanging around to make trouble. Of course York, Gettysburg and Hanover are expected to feel tickled half to death over these bills, but it isn't a question of what is proposed, but what will be accomplished. A Gettysburg building for the Battlefield Commissioners and postoffice is an imperative necessity, so we say God speed the proposed bills to become accomplished laws before the spring primaries.

Institute Week.

The Commonwealth Ladies Orchestra has been enthusiastically received wherever heard and will unquestionably delight a large audience on Thursday evening of Institute week, Nov. 28.

Spraying Demonstrations.

The campaign against the San Jose scale will begin for this county under the direction of D. K. McMillan in the orchard of George Smeemmer near Littlestown, Wed. 20. The remedies will be prepared and trees will be sprayed in order to demonstrate the best methods of saving them from the ravages of the scale. The public is urged to attend all these meetings which are free for all. The scale is in practically every orchard and thousands of trees have been destroyed in the southern and eastern sections of Adams Co. Mr. McMillan will also give a free lecture on the subject of injurious insects in the Catholic hall at Littlestown, Wednesday, Nov. 20 at 8 o'clock p. m.

Other dates for Spraying are as follows:

Thursday, Nov. 21, at 1 p. m., orchard of Jacob E. Sharretts on Taneytown road, near Rock Creek.

Friday, Nov. 22, at 1 p. m., at Mrs. Susan J. Cashman's, near Bonneauville, on Two Taverns' road.

Tuesday, Nov. 26, at R. H. Coleman's, on York pike, near Dutty's Station.

Wednesday, Nov. 27, orchard of Wm. B. McElheny, one mile below Hunterstown.

Friday, Nov. 29, on premises of J. C. Geiselman at New Oxford.

Mr. McMillan will have with him a complete spraying outfit and will give a talk on the scale and other insects at each demonstration.

In the eastern part of the county very few persons know anything about spraying and they should attend these meetings and learn how to save their trees.

Throng of Buyers Continue.

The people of Gettysburg and vicinity appreciate the great advantage L. M. Buehler obtained for them, in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to allow regular 50 cent size of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia, to be sold at half price, 25 cents, and have bought hundreds of bottles.

Many orders have come by mail at this popular price, for it is very unusual to be able to buy sixty doses of a standard medicine for half price.

Every bottle of the specific sold by L. M. Buehler has had his personal guarantee to refund the money if it was not satisfactory, but none has come back, showing the wonderful curative power of this remedy.

Unlike ordinary medicines for constipation and dyspepsia, the dose of Dr. Howard's specific is reduced after a few days' use, and the cure is soon complete and lasting.

In New York city the specific is very popular, and many a club man finds he can eat what he wants and when he wants, if he takes a dose of this remedy afterwards.

STORY OF ELECTION FIGURES

OVER 3000 VOTERS DID NOT VOTE AT THE LAST ELECTION

Has the Time Arrived For a Law to Compel Every Voter to Cast a Ballot at Every Election.

The only interest of many of us in an election seems to be to learn the result and when it is known what party or what individuals have won, the election is disposed of with some such remarks as "its all over like a horse race."

The table of election figures such as printed in the COMPILER last week is a disinteresting combination of figures to many which they care little for. The majority of the particular candidate or party is the important matter.

The story of the election figures of November 5th is well worth studying, for they present some rather startling points of view. The figures of the Parker-Roosevelt campaign were given for comparison so that this story might appear in bold relief. Let us present some of them.

The stay at homes numbered about 41 per cent. In the last presidential campaign 7823 voters went to the polls. The total of voters in the county should be greater in 1907 than in 1904 yet only 4621 votes were polled, 59 per cent of the vote of 1904. In other figures there were over 3000 voters in Adams County who had not enough interest in their state or state government to go to the polls and express their sentiments as to how it should be governed.

If the vote in the last presidential campaign is analysed it will be found that about one third of the voters lived in the towns and boroughs and two thirds in the country, being as 2427 to 5599. This year this total vote in the boroughs and town is but 482 short of what it was in 1904, while the country vote is 2523 votes short. In other words in an off-year the countryman is willing to resign his rights as sovereign and hand them over to his brother living in the town. In the towns about 71 per cent of the total voters turned out while in the country but about 53 per cent came to the polls and if the countryman should ever suffer by reason of his lack of interest in an off-year he will only have himself to blame.

Some of the country districts were even worse than an average of 53 per cent. In Mt. Pleasant township only 2 per cent of the voters cast ballots and in Menallen 49 per cent.

The stay at homes have brought about the condition that few candidates in an off-year are ever elected by a majority of the electors of the county, only by a majority of the votes cast. In the State of Pennsylvania Sheatz, according to the returns was elected by a majority of 150,000 but when the figures show that the total vote fell over 200,000 short of the total vote of two years ago, it will be realized that Sheatz is not State Treasurer by a majority of the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, for the Democratic votes and stay at home vote will outnumber by 50,000 the vote of Sheatz.

This same condition will appear in the counties and is not flattering to any community. Candidates won out in Adams on a total vote of much less than one third of the whole number of electors, and the stay at homes outnumbered the total vote given any candidate.

The result of such elections is that the officers elected are not the choice of a majority of their citizens but of a majority of votes cast. The Democratic form of government is based upon the rule of the majority and every candidate ought to have a right to win out and rule because a majority of the people have chosen him.

This indifference to the exercise of the ballot cannot last forever. There is going to be a reaping as is sown. It looks to us very much that the time is not far distant when every elector will be made to vote in order to enjoy the protection of the government he is apart of. It will be found that to preserve the Democratic principle of the rule of the majority, and to secure the safety of numbers that all the people will have to vote. The time is arriving when the stay at homes must be legislated out of existence, that is, they will be compelled to vote.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. J. Warren Gilbert, living at 128 W. Middle St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "My health was in a bad condition for some time owing to a weakness in the kidneys. I had nearly all the symptoms that usually accompany a severe case of kidney trouble such as backache, restlessness at night, dizzy spells and headaches. I took many different medicines but received no benefit until a box of Doan's Kidney Pills was procured for me at The People's Drug store. They gave me relief at once, and in a short time I was without a sign of the trouble. I heartily endorse Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for United States.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for external and internal use, viz., pure refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Dis"covery is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be used to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local treatment.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a local treatment, a powerful cathartic, which cleanses the bowels, removes the poisons, and restores the system.

The latter—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a constitutional treatment, which builds up the system, restores the strength, and drives away a Cold in the Head and Sore Throat.

DYNAMITE DESTROYS HOUSE.

EAST BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Dynamite destroyed the two and a half story brick dwelling house upon the Goehenour farm a short distance from the Adams County line. Fortunately no one was inside the house when explosion occurred.

Several sticks of the dynamite were brought into the house by John Goehenour 53 years old, who lives with his son Joseph. While every other member of the family was busily engaged husking corn in a field some distance away, the aged man decided to blow away stumps on a partly cleared stretch of land.

Thinking the explosive frozen Goehenour brought the box in the house and it is thought he must have put it in the oven or on top, though he can not recall where he placed it. Leaving the dynamite to thaw he was about to step on the porch when there was a terrific explosion, blowing the gable end of the house out. The force of the explosion threw the old man down, but he was not hurt. The other members of the family ran in from the corn field and found their home a wreck. It is estimated that it will take $1000 to repair the house.

Joseph Leib, an old citizen had a paralytic stroke last Thursday and was unconscious until Saturday when he recovered to be able to notice and talk.

Mr. B. Wiley is in a serious condition.

MAKING A NEWSPAPER

moving Pictures Show Every Step in Production of "The Record."

There has been a general curiosity on the part of the public to know how a modern newspaper is made and to satisfy this, the whole story was recently told at Keith's Philadelphia Theatre, in a remarkable series of life-motion pictures called, "The Making of a Modern Newspaper." "The Philadelphia Record" was selected as the model by S. Lubin, who made the series of very realistic pictures.

The series opens with a scene representing a newspaper office over a hundred years ago. This is to give artistic and historical contrast to the great mechanical advance in journalism since that time. It shows the printing of an old Philadelphia printing shop, and the next glimpse is of the inside of the same printery. A journeyman is laboriously pulling impressions with a Blawie, or Washington hand press, while his apprentice is busy among the type, both being dressed in the costume of the period. Next appears Ben Franklin himself. He walks to the window, looks critically at the printing, and turns to his office, to find the putting on of his hat and walking out.

The next picture depicts a century and a half ago, a panoramic view of the town of "The Philadelphia Record," in a flash is seen "The Record's" famous Electric Baseline Score Board and the great crowd watching the progress of an exciting game between the "Eagles" and the "Aphids."

The next picture shows the business offices of "The Philadelphia Record," with the office boys and the ordinary routine of business going on. From that point the real tour of "The Philadelphia Record" establishment begins.

The managing editor is shown in consultation with various members of his staff, and all so true to life that the effect is as if the viewer were standing in the office, in real flesh and blood before the audience. Next comes the city editor, with his corps of reporters, each attending to his or her own business, according to the exigencies of the moment. This scene is succeeded by the department of the advertising manager, which shows an array of solicitors receiving their various assignments.

Revering want and other advertisements by telephone is an interesting feature of advertising that in recent times has grown to great proportions. Something akin, but broader in its scope, is the succeeding view of the telegraph room, where a skilled corps of operators is busy receiving news from every point of the compass. The messages are directly taken on typewriters and so rapid is the pace that the spectators can almost fancy they hear the click and rattle of the instruments and the machines.

Next comes a prominent feature of the making of a modern newspaper—the "Drawing of the Daily Cartoon." The spectators see the artist actually at work and are at once impressed with the deftness of his pen and the mastery of his studio.

The next step is into the "Mechanical Department," the visitor is treated to a close range view of "Setting Up Advertisements" by hand, succeeded by a tour through the linotype room, where "The Philadelphia Record's" big batteries of linotype machines are shown in active operation. These almost human pieces of mechanism were never exhibited to better advantage. The stereotyping room comes next, and every one is struck by the detail, including a complete demonstration of MacConnell's new Eclipse automatic finishing and cooling machine, which in one single operation does the work of the four machines. Linotype deemed necessary for setting, trimming, cooling and accurately finishing the semi-cylindrical type plates.

The next natural step is a visit to "The Philadelphia Record's" press room, and the exhibition is such a fine one that even the dearest admirer of the magnificent series of views so faithfully portrayed on the screen. The great presses are shown to the fullest advantage from every end and angle, and at every stage of the journey, from the placing of the blank rolls on the spindles to the finished newspapers that may be seen rushing out of the mouths of the presses by the tens of thousands.

One of the latest departments is the delivery, making and shipping room. There the papers are automatically conveyed from the press room by an endless elevator and several bustling groups of men are kept on the jump putting up bundles, wrapping parcels and getting ready for the mail bags in individual cases for out of town subscribers. Next is shown "Muzzling the Trains," the electric signal system, and the exhibition is such a fine one that even the dearest admirer of the magnificent series of views so faithfully portrayed on the screen. Rapid changes of temperature are hard on the toughest constitution.

The conductor passing from the heated inside of a trolley car to the icy temperature of the platform—the canvasser spending an hour or so in a heated building and then walking against a biting wind—know the difficulty of avoiding cold.

Scott's Emulsion strengthens the body so that it can better withstand the danger of cold from changes of temperature.

It will help you to avoid taking cold.

A LIFE AT STAKE

It was a fine night to stick up a train!

As I unceremoniously threw open the door of the adobe shack, in which Col. B. and his "outfit" were engaged in a game of draw, I was greeted with a string of epithets, the rain that blew in with me moistening the "dainty" toes of the cow punchers.

I was soon interested in my cards. Poker always did interest me, whether it was played on the green cloth of a flashy fitted gambling joint, or, as on that night on a bunch of sheepskins thrown indiscriminately on the floor, with the boys squatting in a circle, our spurred boots doubled up under us.

I was not destined to win a fortune, nor was anyone else on this particular occasion, for we were jerked away from dreams of filling a straight "open in the middle" by a splashing of horses' hoofs in the marshy ground without.

Just as rudely as I had entered the sheriff and three boys from the town pushed through the doors. They brought with them the news of two nerry gallies holding up the limited an hour before, cracking the express safe and stripping Pullman passengers of watches, bank rolls and other trinkets.

"And they headed this way," said the sheriff. Cards, chips and money were left in a conglomerate mass as the boys lunged to their feet and started for the corral after their bronchos.

"I thought you'd like to be in on the sport," commented the sheriff, snidely. "Well, be with you in a jiffy, Jim," shouted back the colonel, whose 60 years didn't deter him from joining a man hunt.

We were off at a gallop 15 minutes later. The advantage was all with us. There wasn't a man in the posse who couldn't find every hole in the middle in a blizzard, and a little thing like a rainstorm and a starless night was trifling.

The bandits' horses were all in when we came up with them. They had sense enough to realize the game was up. One of them did get kind of obstreperous, and the sheriff cooled him down by chipping a chunk off his right ear.

We headed back to the ranch house. The sheriff had grabbed the sack of boardie and only the formality of taking the coyotes to jail remained. It was the colonel who suggested it, and I think the sight of the poker paraphernalia gave him the inspiration. Even the sheriff caught the fever and consented, and the captives jumped at the unexpected chance. The bandit with the punctured ear was urged by his partner to play the hand with life or death for both as the stake. The boys picked me out to oppose him.

It was to be the best two of three, and the colonel dealt the cards. I caught a pat flush on the first, and forced Mr. Robber to lay down his hand. His color didn't change a mite, nor did his pal seem unduly nervous. They were certainly a game pair, even if they did surrender.

In the second deal I was beaten on the draw, and I began to get nervous, though I wouldn't have hesitated to help string up the duo. It's pesky business playing a man for his life when your own is not in danger. I could feel the cold sweat on my forehead as the cards were tossed to me for the third and last deal.

The boys leaped over us in breathless interest. Even the deputy holding the other robber crouched close, as did the prisoner. The man in front of me was the coolest in the crowd. I caught two aces in the deal, and I began to pity my opponent. On the draw I got a third ace, but I couldn't tell from the robber's impassive face whether he held deuces or he best there was in the deck.

"Lay down!" shouted the sheriff. "It's your last chance. His command was directed to the bandit. Slowly, deliberately, he placed the cards in a row on the floor. He held four kings.

"You win!" I shouted, exultantly, throwing down my three aces. "Good morning, gentlemen. It was real kind of you," said the robber gent with a sweeping bow. Touching his laced partner on the arm, he preceded him from the house.

It was a sheepish-looking crowd that stood in a circle for half a minute. We came to as the sound of calloping horses reached our ears. The sheriff started for the door, jerking his gun from his holster.

"Hold on, Jim," shouted the colonel. "You agreed to the game, and you lost. Don't try to stop them."

"How'll I explain this stuff?" demanded the sheriff, pointing to the sack of recovered valuables.

"Don't. Just lie. We're dumb."

And he did.

Manufacturing Liquid Air.

Liquid air is at last being manufactured on a commercial scale. The Liquid Air company, of London, having recently opened its works at Battersea, it is claimed that this plant, which is driven by a 250-horse power engine, is the first in any country to reduce liquid air at such a price that it can be freely used in industrial purposes. No chemicals of any kind are used in the production, and instead of oxygen and nitrogen, such a large proportion of the air as is passing through the plant is returned to the atmosphere.

WASN'T PREPARED TO SWEAR.

Of Course His Friend Bill Never Stole Those Chickens, But—

A tall, rusty-hinned, horse-raited colored man walked into the office of O. P. McIlraith the other day with an official looking document in his hand. McIlraith recognized him as a man who had done some whitewashing for him once. "Boss," he began, "I want to get the Bill Johnson out of the workhouse. His family ain't got scarcely enough to eat, and Bill never stole them chickens nobow. Bill never stole nobthin'. I's been over to see Mistah Cockey, an' cose he didn't know me, but I said I knowed you an' you'd tell him I was all right, an' he said if you'd sign this paper maybe he could let Bill out." "Well," said McIlraith, "you just sign right down here, that you know that Bill didn't steal the chickens. Just take oath to that before me as a notary, and then I'll sign it." "Whut's that, Mistan McIlraith? You mean I must swear to it? Huh!"—"He scratched his head and began to edge toward the door. "Of course, boss, I never likes to swear to nobthin'. Bill never stole no chickens, but I don't want to take no oaths, cause I's liable to git myself into trouble." And Bill served out his sentence at the workhouse.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DENTISTRY OF LONG AGO.

Proof That Ancients Had Some Degree of Skill in Art.

While unthoughtful moderns regard dentistry as being virtually a science of our own age, archaeologists know that it was practiced among the ancients. The museums of Rome and other places in Italy possess various specimens of dentists' work dating from before Christ, and another such specimen has recently been discovered in the jaws of a skeleton found in a tomb at Teano. The skeleton is that of a woman, and from the jaws there was extracted a gold mount containing six teeth. A peculiar fact about the find is that the teeth, although "fapped" with gold, were undoubtedly natural, and the theory is that the ancients used gold filans or films to steady loose teeth. For artificial teeth the dentists of the old world had a fancy for animal teeth, especially bovine, by reason of their hardness, though occasionally a person in poverty would still one for sufficient compensation.

The Earth as a Bell.

Studies of the violent earthquake which occurred in the Balkan peninsula April 4, 1904, made by Dr. Emilio Oddone, professor in the University of Pavia, show that the shocks were transmitted through the entire body of the earth, and were reflected from the antipodes back to their place of origin in about 33 minutes. Comparing the records of other great earthquakes, Dr. Oddone concludes that the average time required for a vibration to traverse the globe and return by reflection is from 32 to 33 minutes. The earth thus appears to be not altogether unlike a great bell suspended in space and vibrating throughout its whole mass under strokes, which, comparatively speaking, observes the Youth's Companion, are no more than the tapping of a finger nail. Dr. Oddone calls attention to the interesting coincidence between the time taken for a vibration to traverse the globe and that required for light to cross the diameter of the earth's orbit.—Philadelphia Record.

The Old Melodrama.

Above the howling of the wolves the heroine's shrill voice rang over the pastboard mountains. "Give me those pavers," she screeched, "or I shall tear out my hair! Do you hear, Roycroft Rollington?" The heavy villain displayed his white teeth and rolled another cigarette. "Yes, Julia Livingstone, I hear very distinctly," he replied, in measured tones; "but do be careful, little girl. You know the last time you bought your hair they said they were afraid they couldn't match it any more." Crushed to earth, the poor heroine threw herself to the mercy of the mechanical wolves.

A Stolen Trade Secret.

The manufacture of tinware in England originated in a stolen secret. Few readers need to be informed that tinware is simply thin sheet iron plated with tin by being dipped into the molten metal. It was discovered in Holland and guarded from publicity with the utmost vigilance for nearly half a century. England tried to discover the secret in vain until James Sherman, a Cornish miner, crossed the channel, insinuated himself surreptitiously into the tinplate manufactory, made himself master of the secret and brought it home.

Chat.

A gentleman once remarked to Henry, Prince of Prussia, that one rarely found genius, wit, memory and judgment united in the same person. "Surely, there is nothing astonishing in this," replied the prince. "Genius takes its daring flight toward heaven—he is the eagle. Wit moves along by fits and starts—he is the grasshopper. Memory marches backward—he is the crab. Judgment drags along slowly—he is the tortoise. Now can you expect all these animals to act in unison?"

His Position.

"You say the trouble has come over me about you had with your work?" "Yes, my dear friend," replied the prisoner. "What position did you take in the matter?" "One just inside the woodshed, sir."

THOUGHT HIM A GUEST, TOO.

Drummer's Query Quite Natural, Under the Circumstances.

A story is told by a drummer of his experience at a country hotel in North Dakota this last winter. He arrived late in the evening, and, although the weather was intensely cold, there was but one fire, and that was in the office. After wildly shivering over the diminutive stove, he concluded he would go to bed and get warm. As the landlord conducted him through the dark and cold hall, he inquired if there were any warm rooms, and in answer was ushered into a room into which there never had been a fire, but which had one little window, on which was a storm sash with no ventilator. "I calculate this will fill the bill, as there can't no cold sit in it," said the landlord, depositing the smoky lamp on the only piece of furniture in the room. After spreading his overcoat on the bed, the drummer, with all his clothes on except his shoes, crawled between the icy sheets, where he shivered till morning. Going downstairs, he found the landlord nursing a sickly blaze in the wheezy little stove, and with his teeth chattering, the drummer stood over the stove trying to rub some life into his hands, when a farmer, who had driven 20 miles across the country, came in. He was covered with frost and the felices hung down from his mustache and beard. Eyeing him curiously for awhile, the drummer exclaimed: "Which room did you sleep in last night?"

IN TOM PAINE'S MAGAZINE.

"Declaration of Independence" Was First Given Publicity.

In the columns of the Pennsylvania Magazine, where it occurs—something less than two pages, the Declaration of Independence was first published to the world. The issue was the number for July, 1776, the last number to be published. At that time the magazine was edited by Tom Paine, sometimes called the intimation, and by a curious anomaly the periodical was published by Robert Aitken the publisher of the first Bible in English to make its appearance in this country. No attempt was made by the magazine to interrupt the even tenor of its way in introducing this most important state paper. The historic document is made to take the place under the general heading, "Monthly Intelligence," although there it holds the place of honor, being followed by the constitutions of several of the independent colonies.

Dividing the Responsibility.

Early in Baron Huddleston's career at the bar he shared rooms with another barrister. Bodkin went one evening to take tea and wine with the future baron, and he particularly noticed the dirty, slovenly appearance of the clerk who waited upon them, and of whom the host had for the nonce assumed exclusive possession. Bodkin strongly advised Huddleston to insist on a change in the treatment of the youngster's person and appearance, and said it was scarcely decent to have a person in that dingy condition about him. "I do not much like to interfere," was the reply, "he looks upon Mr. T. as his master, and at the utmost I cannot claim more than half of him." "Then," said Bodkin, "I would, at all events, make him wash my half of his face."—Hench and Bar.

Collector of Baby Pictures.

The prince of Wales' pet diversions, next to shooting, are smoking and stamp collecting. Another queer hobby is collecting babies' photographs. The more comical the face of the baby the better its portrait pleases his royal highness. He even collects pictures of babies published as advertisements by proprietors of infants' foods. His collection of postage stamps is worth at least $100,000. So keen a philatelist is he that on several occasions collectors have had to thank him for throwing light on uncertain scientific points concerning the study of stamps.

Not for Some Time.

Edith's papa—And so you love my daughter? Edith's admirer—I do, indeed, sir. I cannot tell you how much I love her. Do you know what it is to see a single face everywhere, to hear a single voice ever sounding in your ears, to be possessed by the one idea, to feel all the time that the one presence is before you, to— Edith's papa—No, young man, I have never had any of those feelings since I signed the pledge.—Stray Stories.

A Losing Game.

"What makes you so grouchy?" "I won $10 at poker last night." "Well, does that make you sore?" "Sure it does. I had to spend $10 for drinks, three dollars for cigars, $15 for a new dress, to square myself with my wife, and I burned a hole in my new trousers with a cigar. And they paid me my winnings in I. O. U. s!"

His Own Experience.

"Have you What Can Be Done with a Chafing Dish?" asked the customer in the book shop. "No, ma'am," replied the hapless-looking clerk, who had attended a Welsh table party the night before. "That I can tell you, but should be glad to do with a chafing dish."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

Speaking of Powder.

"You said that the powder was a great advantage in the war, and now I enjoy the Fourth of July?" "Undoubtedly—Why, yes, the women use powder, but make no noise about it."—Yonkers Statesman.
